AUGUST 1-31, 2017

Date	Hours	Artist/Collective/Organization	Title	Description	Address	Neighborhood	Project Type	Website
Tuesday, August 1, 2017	10:00 a - 7:00 p	Scripovise Creative Studio	Write Out Loud	Scripovise is a theater-based group where writing and improv come together. Our program inspires artists, performers, and writers of all backgrounds to coalesce creatively while providing an open, safe place for imagination and collaboration opportunities both onstage and off. We will be providing mini-demonstrations and answering questions throughout the day in addition to sign-ups for future workshops and collaborations. Scripovise believes in an "improvise anything" approach to our writing + improv core. We aren't your run-of-the-mill writers' group, we're an ego-free storytelling tribe looking to merge minds with artists, thought pioneers, musicians, dancers, and creators of all types! Visitors are encouraged to stop by anytime.	Hotel Amarano 322 Pass Ave. Burbank 91505	Burbank	Performance Improv-writing	scripovise.wixsite.com/index

Saturday, August 5, 2017	6:00 p - 9:00 p	Emma Echenique, Jo-hsin Chen, Grace Eunchong Lee, Katy Krantz - Opening Reception	Wares: Ceramics Traditions in Contemporary Practice	Emma Echenique Jo-hsin Chen Grace Eunchong Lee Katy Krantz	602 Moulton Ave 90031	Lincoln Heights	Group Exhibition
				Wares: Ceramics Traditions in Contemporary Practice features artists who use ceramics as a contemporary media by embracing its utilitarian tradition as the basis for its contemporary relevance. The vessels, boxes, and figurines in the show are unburdened by their functionality. They are often impractical, or do not function as the commonly used items they represent. The end product is then the result of a ceramic practice that seeks to address the techniques and traditions of the material, rather than make a usable object.
Saturday, August 5, 2017	7:00 p - 10:00 p	Jamie Hamilton	Open Studio	Jamie Hamilton's interdisciplinary practice as sculptor, builder and aerialist arises from curiosity about the limits of the body, knowledge and materials. Described by ARTnews as a "free-wheeling modern-day Leonardo," Hamilton makes an art of pursuing balance in precarious circumstances, evoking both mythic themes and contemporary dilemmas. Hamilton will host an open studio presenting works based on the implications of our creation and consumption of technical images. Inspired by our current revolution in automation and computational intelligence Hamilton attempts to tease out new sculptural forms using the materials of machined metals, magnets, and dichroic glass.	1206 Maple Ave, Room 850 90015	Downtown LA	Open Studio	jamiehamiltonstudio.com/

				Garden Hours – Sunday in Silver Lake: On the eve of the Full Green Corn Moon on Aug. 6th, enter a magical realm set in a cozy backyard garden, for an evening of artist-led, restorative actions. Garden Hours grounds our temporal bodies as we aim for the astral, cultivating the edges of perception and setting intentions. At Garden Hours, we'll carve out a shared space in which to contemplate alliances with mineral, animal and vegetable beings – soil, pollinators, milkweed and cacti. From day to dusk and into night, we'll stretch our egos while fostering collective intuition with humor and delight, tea and snacks. Ingredients in this unfixed recipe may include: light exercise, story-time shared over biodynamic tinctures, rites and rituals from the heart and the hip, guided meditation by moonrise, mild dancing and at least one surprise. Participation is requested, not required; visitors may come and go. It may be messy.	2615 Glendale Blvd 90039	Silver Lake	Happening	gardenhours.com

				The work deconstructs the idea of performance through an immersive event that will blur the boundaries between the audience and the performer. Via a GoPro that the performer will wear, the audience will be directly implicated in the spectacle. The GoPro footage then will be juxtaposed with the video of the performer that will be live-streamed and projected within a fixed environment. However the performer will be free to perform independent of the confines of the location of the projection. In this way the dancer becomes a conduit of engagement instead of being the subject of entertainment.

Saturday, August 26, 2017	12:00 p - 10:00 p	Amanda Maciel Antunes	Autopsicografia	Autopsicografia* (Portuguese) is a performance/installation piece by artist Amanda Maciel Antunes, telling the story of adapting to a new language and thought. Thinking is a language that doesn't make the distinction of a matter of course and in this narrative the artist explores these allegedly distinct parts of nature with doubts in its incision. During its course the artist concedes, interferes and changes her reality by meddling with her seemingly instinctive area of perception and culture camouflage; gradually speaking to an audience (physical or in a cloud) that her boundaries on a spectrum are universal constants of the human race.	300 S Anderson St 90033	Downtown LA	Solo Exhibition Performance	amandamacielantunes.com

				Finishing Concepts is proud to present SPACIAL/RECOGNITION, the inaugural exhibit in the gallery space at their workshop. We invite the community to come experience the newly renovated space. The opening reception will be held on August 26th beginning at 1pm and is free to the public. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION was collectively curated by Julian Lombardi, Stephanie Sherwood and Surge Wintron. "We shape our buildings; thereafter they shape us." -Winston Churchill For the first exhibit in the new gallery space at Finishing Concepts in Monterey Park, each artwork directly responds to the architecture. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION focuses on the exploration of non-traditional spaces. Each piece addresses this concept in an exploratory fashion, whether it is by challenging the traditional constraints of the rectangle, inhabiting three-dimensional space, or presenting the exploration of inner space in a profound manner. Many artists have expressed how changes to their studio space can directly affect the outcome of their work, sometimes architecture can direct us in unseen ways. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION contains pieces which touch and play with the space around them; they cut; they mimic; they assert.

Sunday, August 27, 2017	12:00 p - 4:00 p	Molly Schulman & Sarah Vandersall	Afternoon Tea in Two Rooms: Sweetie-Sweets and Chatty-Chats or Ephemeral Death Rituals or Both!!	On Sunday August 27 from 12-4pm, Molly Schulman of MAIDEN LA and Sarah Vandersall aka Phoebe Snow of Bring Back that Braid, will be hosting an Afternoon Tea in our East Hollywood Studio.
				Transition from one room to the next and back: mingle and relax, getting to know each other while discussing the topics of Art and Life (or your favorite tea sandwich) and then transition into exploring your own ephemeral afterlife ritual and life's passing. Each room is a counterbalance allowing visitors to flow between spaces based on their own feelings and interests on that day.
				We look very much forward to Meeting You!!

The vessels, boxes, and figurines in the show are unburdened by their functionality. They are often impractical, or do not function as the commonly used items they represent. The end product is then the result of a ceramic practice that seeks to address the techniques and traditions of the material, rather than make a usable object. 				Curated by Javier Proenza Finishing Concepts is proud to present SPACIAL/RECOGNITION, the inaugural exhibit in the gallery space at their workshop. We invite the community to come experience the newly renovated space. The opening reception will be held on August 26th beginning at 1pm and is free to the public. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION was collectively curated by Julian Lombardi, Stephanie Sherwood and Surge Wintron. "We shape our buildings; thereafter they shape us." -Winston Churchill For the first exhibit in the new gallery space at Finishing Concepts in Monterey Park, each artwork directly responds to the architecture. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION focuses on the exploration of non-traditional spaces. Each piece addresses this concept in an exploratory fashion, whether it is by challenging the traditional constraints of the rectangle, inhabiting three-dimensional space, or presenting the exploration of inner space in a profound manner. Many artists have expressed how changes to their studio space can directly affect the outcome of their work, sometimes architecture can direct us in unseen ways. SPACIAL/RECOGNITION contains pieces which touch and play with the space around them; they cut; they mimic; they assert.

ONGOING EXHIBITIONS	Aug 1 - Sept 2	Nicole Rademacher	Origin Stories	18th Street Arts Center proudly presents an evolving exhibition in conjunction with a series of storytelling workshops by LA-based artist Nicole Rademacher and invited guests in our Atrium Gallery. Originally designed to empower adopted and fostered people to create and record their unique histories, the workshops are being opened up to artists, particularly artists who feel marginalized. These are part of a larger series that Rademacher has done nationally. The first workshop at 18th Street will inaugurate the exhibition. It will take place on Wednesday, July 12 at 1pm during our community potluck.	1639 18th Street, Atrium Gallery 90404	Santa Monica	Workshop + Exhibition	nicolerademacher.com

ONGOING EXHIBITIONS	Aug 1 - Aug 12	Torrance Art Museum	Why Art Matters!	This exhibition is being staged in response to the potential threat to the funding of the National Endowment for the Arts. We have invited some of the leading Curators in SoCal to each select an artist/artists group that they feel reflect upon the projects title, Why Art Matters. These artists have shown, via their myriad practices, some of the engaged and often profound reasons that Art has been an essential ingredient to the building of civilizations throughout history. Culture is important and Art is a cornerstone of Culture. It mirrors our concerns and interests and it is the greatest example, alongside Science, of the curiosity that has helped Humanity get where it is, in its finest moments. The Artists: Chaz Bojorquez, Beatriz Cortez with Rafa Esparza, Finishing School, Arshia Haq, Kenyatta AC Hinkle, Linda Pollack, Henry Taylor, Glen Wilson, Liat Yossifor The Curators are: Dan Cameron, Emily Gonzalez-Jarrett, Kio Griffith, Nancy Meyer, Kristina Newhouse, Paul Schimmel, Max Presneill, Tyler Stallings, Catherine Taft	3320 Civic Center 90503	Torrance	Group Exhibition	torranceartmuseum.com
